Why are Federal Boundaries Changing?

The Constitution of Canada requires a study of federal electoral boundaries following each 10-year census in order to account for changes in population distribution in Canada. This process is led by separate and independent commissions for each province to establish new electoral boundaries for each riding.

The current federal electoral redistribution process began in October 2021 and the commissions have released their proposed new boundaries for Ontario. This includes changes to the borders of our riding of Mississauga-Erin Mills. Please note that residents north of Thomas Street will be moved to the new riding of Mississauga-Meadowvale.

The commission for Ontario is hosting public hearings for residents to ask questions and learn more about this process. You may make a written submission through their website, or register to attend their upcoming virtual hearing for Mississauga on September 28th.
